

Orange – A Physical Aura Color

- The most daring, bold and risk-taking of all the aura colors
- Love to partake in high-risk, physical challenges that will give them an adrenaline rush
- Enjoy going beyond physical limitations; have an incredibly high tolerance for pain
- Amazingly resourceful, skillful and calculating when competing (against self or others)
- Are able to predict behaviors of people and outcomes of machines like no other color
- Highly intelligent and creative; capable of smooth talking a beggar out of his last dime
- Spend considerable time calculating, strategizing, planning, and organizing any new project or dangerous feat but at time of execution they run on instinct and adrenaline like no other
- Very independent (usually loners) but like hanging out with other daredevil friends
- Often have a fit, trim, agile and attractive body; appealing to the opposite sex
- A regular job, family and even a relationship feels confining or suffocating to them
- They don't want to be responsible to anyone or have anyone dependent on them
- Free-spirited and easy-going; interested in having freedom to live life on their own terms
- Can appear self-absorbed, self-centered, aloof and inconsiderate to others
- Don't easily show their emotions or affection
- Orange children get bored easily; school doesn't excite them or keep them interested
- They're not focused on making a lot of money or planning for the future; they live for now
- Orange is a fairly rare aura color
- Famous Examples: Evel and Robbie Knievel, Jackie Chan, Tony Hawk, Bam Margera, Mike McGill, Alain Robert, Yakima Canutt, Dick Grace, Jeannie Epper, Zoë Bell.

The Life Purpose of someone with the primary color of Orange is to do what they do naturally – test their daring and physical prowess against the environment for all to marvel at and enjoy.

The Basic Fear of someone with the primary color of Orange is the fear of commitment and loss of freedom.
